FROM THE PRESIDENT & CEO

Why we celebrate you in October

by Wayne Miller
President & CEO

EACH OCTOBER, we celebrate National Cooperative Month. This year, the celebration has lasted even longer with the United Nations-sanctioned International Year of Cooperatives. But what are we really celebrating? What makes Valley Rural Electric Co-op different, and why should that matter to you?

Our economy still has critical hurdles to overcome, so perhaps you may not feel like celebrating at all right now. But when our faith in big institutions has been shaken, it's actually the perfect time to remember what we've already accomplished locally — all with a little cooperation.

We've faced tough times before; 75 years ago the territories we serve didn't have electricity. Young folks were leaving en masse in the hope of finding a "brighter" future in urban areas, and rural America was left in the dark. But instead of waiting for someone else to fix our problem, we turned to each other. We built our own utility, and we powered our future.

By our very nature, not-for-profit, local, member-owned and -governed cooperatives like Valley REC empower members to improve their lives. And while bringing electricity to rural Pennsylvania was a big first step, we certainly didn't stop there. Just think about what we've accomplished so far in 2012:

- ▶ We've funded $25,000 in scholarships for deserving students in our area. These bright young leaders will keep our communities' future strong.
- ▶ We've sponsored 12 of our best and brightest local high school juniors on a trip to Washington, D.C., so they could meet with legislators and learn about government and the cooperative way of doing business.

- ▶ We've supported neighbors in need by contributing a total of $7,562 (with matching co-op funds) to the Huntingdon County United Way campaign.
- ▶ Our employees have donated their time and resources to help raise nearly $4,700 in support of the American Cancer Society's Relay for Life program.
- ▶ Through our Members Helping Members program, we've given more than $22,000 (including donated and formerly escheated funds) to co-op families who were unable to pay their electric bills due to financial setbacks.
- ▶ We've helped educate 120 children and adults in our communities through free programs focused on safety and energy efficiency.

We are always looking for more ways we can help make a positive impact on the folks we serve. And we would love to get more ideas from you on how we can better do that. Are you ready to get involved? Consider attending our annual membership meeting, held each spring, to let us know what issues are important to you. And be sure to go to your Valley REC district nominating meeting and dinner when you receive an invitation. Also, remember you can send an email to memberservices@valleyrec.com with your input on how we can engage our members and work together to support our rural residents.

As we celebrate National Cooperative Month, thank you for your efforts to strengthen our communities. We want you to continue to stay involved as we build a better future together.

Have you made the connection?

As a Valley Rural Electric Cooperative member, you can use your free Co-op Connections card or key fob to receive valuable discounts at the local participating businesses listed on these pages, as well as more than 90 national retailers.

Keep this directory handy to identify local participants. Also, keep an eye out for the Co-op Connections card decals on doors or cash registers where you shop.

To see an up-to-date list of participating businesses and their discounts, visit www.valleyrec.com and look for the Co-op Connections card icon on the home page. New discounts are added all the time!
